

Triple Station Chin-Up Bars

$1,550.⁰⁰

Product Description

Ideal for public venues such as parks or fitness trails, or even for high school and college recreational areas, the Triple Station Chin-Up Bars allow three people to workout at the same time. Chin-ups give a well-rounded workout for the core muscles and chest as well as the wrists, arms and shoulders. The up and down movement using body weight as the resistance targets everything from the abs and lats to biceps and triceps at the same time. Each of the stations has a textured handle which makes gripping easy and prevents slipping, even if it's damp with morning dew on an early workout session or after a rain shower. The Triple Station Chin-Up Bars are designed to be weather-proof and aren't susceptible to rusting or wear and tear even after years of use. The handles of the bars are tilted in different positions to allow users to choose the best height for them according to their size and height whether they're male or female, young or old.
