Product Description

The Royal Double Station Sky Walker is a low-impact machine for cardio workouts outdoors. It offers the same benefits of a light cardio workout but with the extra benefit of running without beating up your knees, hips, and back. The design allows two people to work out together. This feature is going to be a hit as people want to have a workout partner by their side to keep their motivation high. There are spacious foot pads and sturdy handles on either side. The smooth, gliding stride motion will give you an aerobic workout that's as easy on the body as it is effective. You'll be engaging muscle groups like thighs and calves and building tone and definition in the process. Not to mention, regular walks on the Royal Double Station Sky Walker will build stamina and keep that heart rate in check. The structure has a durable, weather-resistant steel built which can handle all kinds of weather year-round. There's also a handy instructional panel on each side with correct usage guidelines.
