Product Description

The Wavy Overhead Scaling Ladder lets kids stretch, swing, and climb like they're on an adventure. It's got a gentle wavy shape, which means they'll need to go a bit side-to-side to keep things challenging. The whole structure is made from heavy-duty, commercial-grade galvanized steel. In other words, this climber can take on just about any kid or weather that comes its way. It won't bend out of shape no matter how big a kid is using it or give way to rusting. The powder-coating paint job makes it look fresh and new after years of play. And, to make things even better, it's secured between four thick metal posts, so you know it won't wobble while kids are crossing it. Kids don't even notice they're exercising because, for them, it's just play. But with each swing and reach, they'll be building up strength in their arms, core, and legs. You can even pick the color of your Wavy Overhead Scaling Ladder to make it fit your playground's look perfectly.
