Product Description

The Fitness Station Sign provides a way to make your outdoor fitness area stand out from the rest of the playground. Everyone recognizes a playground ride and how to use it, but that's not the case with fitness equipment. So you can use the Fitness Station Sign to welcome people to an outdoor gym. You can also list all kinds of equipment available in the fitness circuit to let users know right away if the exercise they're looking for is present. Each station can have its own sign too, with instructions for using the equipment so participants can confidently jump into their workout. The Fitness Station Sign is made from durable, rust-resistant steel that can withstand any weather. And with a powder-coated finish, the metal is further protected from rust and other damages usually inflicted by weather over time. And lastly, these signs are securely anchored in the ground with a concrete footing, so they're not going anywhere.
