

Product Description

When you install the Royal Double Station Pendulum Swing in a park, communal exercise area or even in school grounds it will become a favorite piece of equipment thanks to its easy-to-use design. There's nothing quite like working out in fresh air and the Royal Double Station Pendulum Swing gives users the opportunity to engage in social interaction and fitness in the fresh air which brings with it multiple health benefits. The fitness equipment is designed for teenagers and adults and the fitness starts as soon as they step aboard. The handles are fixed in place while the bottom section where the feet are placed swings from side to side, as low or as high as the user requires. The gentle side-to-side swinging motion is perfect for building a stronger core and abdominal muscles, but it also provides greater flexibility to the lower back area as well as the hips. It doesn't even feel like working out on this outdoor gym equipment and is sure to be a popular way to stay active.
