

Product Description

Skiing uses multiple muscle groups at the same time and whether users are preparing to hit the slopes or just want to stay fit in a dynamic way, the Single Station Country Skier gives them the opportunity to reap maximum rewards. The equipment couldn't be easier to use whether it's for an inexperienced young adult, high school teenager or frequent gym goer. As the legs and arms swing back and forth effortlessly users will appreciate the light and smooth movements of the Single Station Country Skier. Place this gym equipment in a school playground, college campus, or alongside a path or trail and you can be sure people will jump at the chance to hop on. Face it towards a picturesque view for bonus points. This training apparatus is engineered to endure all kinds of environments, so you don't have to worry about it being outside over many winters as the powder coating and sealed mechanisms prevent water ingress.
