

Product Description

The Double Station Dip is an excellent way for fitness enthusiasts to condition their upper body muscles with simple repetitive movements. This workout station helps to build muscles in key areas such as the chest, shoulders and triceps and using it couldn't be easier. As the Double Station Dip is so simple to use it appeals to everyone from children to adults so it is perfect to add to a school outdoor gym or alongside a trail to give walkers the opportunity for an exercising power burst. What's more, as it's a double station two people can use it at the same time and keep each other company or motivate one another in their repetitions. It's suitable to be placed anywhere outdoors thanks to its weather-resistant construction which includes a powder coating the rain rolls straight off, so there's zero maintenance once it's been installed. It's ideal as part of a larger gym setup as it provides somewhere to do gentle warmups or used more intensely to work a variety of muscle groups.
