Product Description —

With the world growing increasingly inclusive, it's too bad if your playground doesn't catch up. Besides, all children should have an equal opportunity to have fun. The Glacier Bay Play Structure can help you make your area more inclusive. This structure has two tiers: a ground level and an elevated platform. While kids can take one of the many attached climbers to get to the top, there's also a transfer station. The transfer station acts as a wheelchair ramp to allow easier access to the structure. Those who don't wish to explore the upper area of Glacier Bay can play with interactive panels on the ground level. Whereas, adventure lovers can climb to the top and take a thrilling ride down using any of the slides. This playground set excellently promotes social play and encourages teamwork. And with its premium construction, it will stand tall at your park for years!
